THE LEADERSHIP

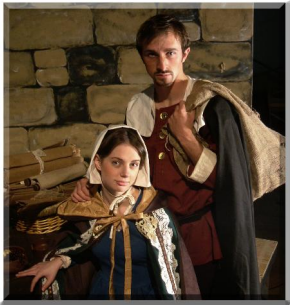

Nicky Chavers holds a BA in Bible, a BA in Sacred Music, and a Masters Degree in Music and Dramatic Production. He taught on the college level for five years, pastored a church for twelve years and has received honorary degrees for his contributions to Christian Education in the fields of drama and music. He has written and published more than twenty-five full-length plays and musicals on Biblical, historic, missionary, and moral themes.

He and his wife, Sheri, founded The Academy of Arts, whose drama teams have become well known throughout the Eastern and Midwestern United States, since their first tour in 1971. The leadership of the Chavers is backed by a solid board of directors made up of pastors, Christian educators, and Christian businessmen. Each of these individuals believes in the ministry of the drama teams. Each has had his own heart touched and challenged by this group that "makes the Bible come alive!"

THE DRAMA TEAMS

Christian young people - some of the best in the country! Strangely enough, the members of The Academy of Arts drama-music teams are not chosen on the basis of acting or musical ability alone. They are chosen on the basis of character, conviction, and spiritual maturity.

They are hand picked from among some five thousand high school students, who are involved in the drama seminars which the Academy of Arts directs each year. Many believers who have traveled with the Academy of Arts in previous years are now active pastors and lay people serving faithfully in churches across the country.

THE PRODUCTIONS

Academy of Arts productions have but one purpose - they convey a powerful Bible message directly to the hearts of the hearers. The plays are Biblical, professional and deeply moving. This is Christian drama and sacred music at its best! The productions employ authentic costuming, convincing makeup and professional stage lighting. All of this effort is aimed at helping the audience experience Biblical truths that change lives.

At the conclusion of the service, everyone in attendance comes to feel that they know the Biblical or historical characters of the play personally, since they have relived their story. Each year many Christians make decisions of dedication as God speaks to their hearts through His Word. Pastors and conference leaders may schedule the drama team with confidence. We would be happy to supply references from a wealth of pastors who support the ministry.
